

Anti-Bullying Policy

What counts as bullying, how to report it, and how the School responds.

A child who is afraid cannot learn. Bullying is treated here as a discipline matter and a welfare matter at the same time.

What counts as bullying

Repeated physical, verbal or social aggression by one student against another — including teasing, name-calling, exclusion from a group, intimidation, or damage to another student's belongings. A single serious incident is dealt with under the Code of Conduct even where it is not repeated.

How to report it

Any incident, experienced or witnessed, should be reported immediately to the Class Teacher or the Student Coordinator, by the affected student or by a parent. Parents may also raise it directly with the Principal's Office on the School WhatsApp number.

What the School does

The School investigates promptly. The response includes counselling of the students involved, notice to both sets of parents, and disciplinary steps under the Code of Conduct where warranted. Severe or repeated bullying may result in suspension or expulsion of the offending student at the discretion of the Principal.

What the School asks of parents

Report early rather than after weeks of silence, and route the matter through the Class Teacher, Student Coordinator or Principal's Office rather than approaching the other child or the other family directly. A matter handled inside the School is resolved faster and with less damage to both children.

Version: Academic Session 2025–26. The School may amend this policy at the start of a new academic session, or earlier where a change in Government or PEF policy requires it. Amendments are notified to parents on the official WhatsApp channel.
